ADULT & COMMUNITY EDUCATION

December 2, 2004

Dear Members of the Community,

The Arts are alive in Brookline. This community abounds with the talent of many artists, students and art organizations. They all need our support.

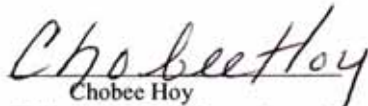

The Brookline Community Center for the Arts has taken a bold step to build and create a center for the many forms of dance and movement education and training. It is an exciting resource center for nurturing talent and teachers.

We value the commitment by the Board and staff of the BCCA to mount an exciting center and hope that you will consider being a part of their success story.

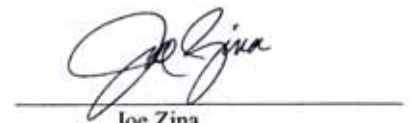

The Brookline Community Center for the Arts is a wonderful addition to our community.

- BCCA provides a venue for exhibition of the performing arts in Brookline
- BCCA classes add to the cultural education and environment of our town
- BCCA shows tremendous potential to do much good for the community, including working with schools, minorities, underprivileged and the disabled
- BCCA's programming adds great diversity to Brookline with classes and programs for all ages and ethnic backgrounds
- BCCA stimulates our local economy by attracting hundreds of patrons to Brookline

We hope that you will help the BCCA in their fundraising campaign and search for a building buyer.
